

Potatoes New Brunswick

Created by federal and provincial legislation, Potatoes New Brunswick is a producer-driven organization representing potato growers across the province. Our organization is given direction by nine elected growers representing each district of the province and works closely with representatives from the New Brunswick Potato Shippers' Association, the New Brunswick Seed Potato Growers Association, the Process Growers Advisory and the New Brunswick Seed Potato Export Corporation. Potatoes NB has many committees where federal and provincial governments and industry experts participate. Our organization, also, represents growers during negotiations and operates the Agricultural Certification Services, a grower-owned, and the first accredited Canadian disease-testing laboratory and research facility in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Potatoes NB works closely with more than 150 growers, packers and shippers involved in the potato industry. From start to finish, our potatoes are recognized nationally and internationally for their high quality and our producers continue to respond to market trends by offering more than 100 potato varieties.

Potatoes NB also owns and operates the Bon Accord Elite Seed Potato Centre, a high generation seed potato farm.
